EBSCO Discovery Service and DPLA Highlights

The screenshot shows the EBSCO Discovery Service search results page. At the top, there's a search bar with the text 'Searching: University Library Collection' and a search button. Below the search bar, there are tabs for 'Basic Search', 'Advanced Search', and 'Search History'. The search results are displayed in a list format. The first result is titled 'U/Pb geochronology and geochemistry of the bedrocks and moraine sediments from the Windmill Islands; implications for Proterozoic evolution of East Antarctica'. The second result is titled 'Research on windmill starting characteristics of MTE-D micro turbine engine'. On the left side, there's a 'Refine Search' panel with options for 'Source Types' (Academic Journals) and 'Refine your results' (Catalog Only, Full Text, Scholarly (Peer Reviewed) Journals). On the right side, there's a 'Related Images' section with four images: 'Landscape with Windmills', 'Windmills: a book of fables', 'Improvement in Windmills', and 'Wind power and windmills'. At the bottom right, there's a link to 'Find More at the Digital Public Library of America'.

EBSCO Discovery Service brings together the most comprehensive collection of content—including superior indexing from top subject indexes, high-end full text and the entire library collection—all within an unparalleled full-featured, customizable discovery layer experience. Now you can also highlight the Digital Public Library of America (DPLA) rich resources from institutions around the US by including content from the DPLA in the form of a Widget on the right side of the screen.
